Best Practices

Title of the Practice:

“Women in Development”

Objectives

Women in Development (WID) is a concept that recognizes the importance of gender equality and women's empowerment in achieving sustainable development. WID emphasizes the need to address the specific challenges faced by women and to ensure their equal participation and benefit in development processes. The key focus of WID is to integrate gender perspectives and considerations into development policies, programs, and projects. It seeks to challenge and change the existing gender disparities and power imbalances that limit women's opportunities and hinder their full participation in social, economic, and political spheres. St. Wilfred's College for Girls is committed to fostering the holistic development of women, empowering them to excel in various spheres of life. Recognizing the importance of gender equality and women's empowerment, the college has implemented the best practice "Women in Development." This initiative aims to uplift women by providing them through following objectives:

- Academics
 - Promote gender equality in academic settings by providing equal opportunities for women to excel in their studies.
 - Foster a supportive and inclusive learning environment that encourages women to pursue academic excellence and fulfill their potential.
 - Implement measures to address any existing gender disparities in academic performance and encourage women to participate in all fields of study.

- Employment
 - Enhance career development opportunities for women by organizing job fairs, internships, and networking events to connect them with potential employers.
 - Promote gender diversity in the workplace by partnering with companies committed to providing equal employment opportunities.
 - Provide career counseling and guidance to help women make informed decisions regarding their professional paths.
- Entrepreneurship:
 - Encourage and support women in entrepreneurship by providing resources, training, and mentorship programs for aspiring female entrepreneurs.
 - Foster an entrepreneurial culture that inspires women to identify and pursue business opportunities.
 - Facilitate access to funding and grants for women-owned businesses to promote their growth and sustainability.
- Sports:
 - Promote women's participation and excellence in sports through training programs, coaching, and access to sporting facilities.
 - Encourage participation in competitive sports at both intra and intercollegiate levels to develop teamwork, leadership, and resilience among women.
 - Challenge gender stereotypes and societal norms by celebrating the achievements of women in sports and promoting a culture of inclusivity and support.
- Extra-Curricular Activities:
 - Provide a diverse range of extra-curricular activities that cater to the interests and talents of women, including clubs, societies, cultural events, and creative pursuits.
 - Foster a supportive environment that encourages women to explore their passions, develop new skills, and build social networks outside of academics.
 - Recognize and celebrate the achievements of women in various extra-curricular endeavors to inspire and empower others.

By implementing these objectives, the best practice "Women in Development" at St. Wilfred's College for Girls aims to empower women to become confident, capable, and resilient individuals who can contribute positively to society, break barriers, and create lasting impact.

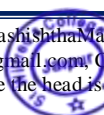

The Context

The Practice of 'Women in Development' WID lies in to promote women's sense of self-worth, their ability to determine their own choices, equal access to all opportunities and resources, their right to have power to control their own lives, both within and outside the home. Women in Development as a practice in college recognizes the importance of gender equality, diversity, and inclusion in higher education. It aims to create an environment that empowers women to overcome barriers, realize their full potential, and become leaders in their fields. By fostering Women in Development as a Best Practice in colleges, we can promote a more equitable, inclusive, and diverse educational landscape that benefits everyone. In recent years, there has been a growing recognition of the importance of Women in Development in our society, as it addresses various challenges that women may face in numerous aspects of her life. These challenges can include gender discrimination, stereotyping, unequal representation in leadership roles, and limited access to resources and opportunities. Thus 'Women in Development' is a core value at St. Wilfred's College for Girls, and it is implemented as a Best Practice across various aspects of the college's maneuvers.

The Practice

St. Wilfred's College for Girls is stalwart not only to inculcate the practice to make every woman empowered with all the goodness, indeed the College is also dedicated for those who implement the practice with noteworthy outcomes. For this the College has a network called 'Maitri' in which all the girls and female faculties are associated together to plan and execute various activities for keeping up the practice of empowering females around us.

In addition to this, the College grace the Woman of the Year along with her team with 'Shakti' Award every year who has done remarkable work in the field of developing women in need. As a matter of fact, to make a woman strong and empowered it is extremely important to make her strong in her girlhood. To accomplish the goal to be carried out effectively, the IQAC of the College has organized important committees and cells, which are accountable for the planning and implementation of the practice in the College.

- The Women Cell (Women Empowerment & Development, SC/ST/OBC Cell, Sexual Harassment)
- Student Development Cell (Career Guidance, Placement, Scholarship Cell- Internal, External and Government)
- Entrepreneurship Cell (Entrepreneurship, Incubation, Industry-Institute Interaction)
- Internal Complaint, Discipline & Grievance Cell

These cells and committees has been organized, and are responsible to encourage female students to participate in every single activity held in college across the year. Such as to educate, to spread awareness for various emerging issues, to provide necessities and hygiene supplies to the poor women and girls in the society.

Moreover, the students are also motivated to participate in extracurricular activities, and to join as student coordinators for several sports, and cultural events in the college, which foster their leadership potential and help them build networks and connections for future career opportunities.

In addition to academics and leadership, St. Wilfred's College for Girls promotes a safe and supportive campus environment. The college has strict policies and procedures in place to prevent and address gender-based discrimination, harassment, and any inconsistent activity in college. It provides counseling and support services to female students who may face gender-related challenges, and ensures that their concerns are heard and addressed in a timely and confidential manner.

Overall, Women in Development is integrated into the fabric of St. Wilfred's College for Girls as a best practice. It is reflected in the college's policies, programs, and culture, creating a supportive and inclusive environment that empowers women to reach their full potential, excel in their chosen fields, and become leaders in their communities and beyond.

Evidence of Success

Pandit Jawahar Lal Nehru once famously said “If you educate a man, you educate an individual, however, if you educate a woman, you educate a whole family (nation).” St. Wilfred’s College for Girls strive hard for accomplishment of the pre-decided goals of ‘Women in Development’ as a best

Problems Encountered and Resources Required

Awareness is a significant issue which is felt by both the students and faculties in charge of the activity, as our society is not well versed with the concept of Women in Development and its real meanings. Parents often deny their girl child to go outside the college premises for organizing the activities. In addition to this sometimes society also does not cooperate with the students when our students go out of the college for any campaign or awareness camps. College is persistent in its efforts to develop a free environment for girls so that they can not only think for themselves but also to mark some significant differences in their lives and others lives too.
